Radio, TV Stations to be Quiet
For Half Hour Tomorrow

Almost all Southland television A.M. and F.M. radio stations will be off the air from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., tomorrow as part of a coast-to-coast test of CONELRAD, the nation's Civil Defense emergency broadcasting system. Special civil defense announcements will be beamed to the public on 640 and 1240 only throughout the period.

THE ONLY stations permitted to broadcast during the test will be those A. M. stations participating in the CONELRAD Drill beamed from 640 and 1240 on the radio dial, Eaton stated. Emergency type non-commercial broadcasting systems such as fire, police, and others essential to the public welfare will not be effected by the Drill. Such systems are operated on specially assigned frequencies which cannot be heard on regular radio receivers.

No public participation in the CONELRAD Drill is required, Eaton explained. However, Southland residents are requested not to use their telephones to call local police or civil defense officials during the Drill, but to turn their radio dials to 640 or 1240 where vital civil defense announcements will be broadcast throughout the full 30 minute period.

EMERGENCY announcements dealing with actual situations which could occur during the drill will be made as part of the program. In some communities local officials may choose to test their siren warning systems on tomorrow, Eaton explained, although the testing of local siren systems is optional while participation of all radio and TV stations in the CONELRAD Drill is mandatory in accordance with instructions from the FCC.

To insure success of the CONELRAD Drill and to minimize confusion and telephone calls to local offices, Eaton urges each person to fully inform each member of their family, co-workers, friends and associates of this test and advise them to tune their radios to 640 and 1240 from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m., Friday morning.
